PECULIAR COMPLEX
It looks as though the entire legislature has a new law complex with the exception of the representative from Contra Costa county, who according to the latest information available has not introduced one bill. It is devoutly to be hoped that he will not stray from the straight and narrow path and wear that record.

JUST WILL DO IT
Not being a psychologist I cannot furnish the explanation for the inordinate desire of mankind to load up the statute books with a lot of useless laws every time the legislature meets. Up to a couple of days ago over a thousand measures had been poured into the hopper, among them, it is reported a number of the "cinch" and "come hither" variety. It is hardly to be expected that a session could get by without some of the smart boys trying their hand at acquiring a little easy money. In the great majority of instances these bills die aborning, but some of them serve their nefarious purpose.

FACE COUNSEL
I was sitting in an inferior court the other day listening to a misdemeanor case in which the defendant acted as his own attorney, which to my mind is the only certain way to insure conviction. The defendant in his plea to the jury disclaimed knowledge of the ordinance he was accused of breaking. The judge in his charge to the twelve good and true men and women made it plain that ignorance of the law was no excuse. Immediately there flashed in my mind a picture of legal tomes containing thousands of laws for the regulation of our conduct and the impossibility of any man familiarizing himself with them.

AGREE, DO NOTHING
At not infrequent intervals there are meetings of lawyers and commissions and invariably we are told that there are too many laws and something should be done at once to reduce their number. After this solemn pronouncement, adjournment is taken and we hear nothing more until a legislative meets and a deluge of new laws (Continued on Page 8)

Couple Held At Reno For Gold Theft

RENO, Jan. 26.—UP—Buckshot embedded in amalgam tonight was said by Sheriff Ray Root to link Clifford Lewis, former Marysville liquor store operator with the $1,750 Yuba river gold robbery.
Lewis and his wife, May, were held for Marysville authorities. His wife was later released and Lewis waived extradition.
Authorities explained for years hunters had been shooting in the Yuba river districts. The shot was carried into the river and during gold dredging operations became embedded in the amalgam used to separate the precious ore from rock and dirt.
This shot-embedded amalgam was stolen in the holdup. Some of this amalgam was found in Lewis' home in Marysville.
Lewis' arrest brings the roundup of the robbery suspects to four. Three others are in custody in California.

Doctor Trapped In Blizzard As Baby Boy Dies

BURLINGTON, N. J., Jan. 26.—UP—The blizzard which swept the Eastern seaboard Wednesday was responsible for another death, it was learned today when Mr. and Mrs. John Moller dug their way out of the 10-foot drifts which surrounded their home for two days.
They brought with them the body of their two-months' old son, Herbert, who had taken sick and died yesterday—because the doctor who had been summoned couldn't make his way through the snow.
The undertaker from Burlington, who had also been summoned, could not get through the snow either.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy, mild Sunday; Monday cloudy and unsettled; gentle, southern winds.

Mortgage Moratorium Compromise Reached

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—UP—California's legislators compromised tonight on a mortgage moratorium plan and rushed bills into the records in the hope of adjourning by midnight.
A deadlock which had caused the only real excitement of the session was broken when both Houses voted to accept a mortgage relief plan advocated by a "free conference" committee representing the Senate and the Assembly.
The bill was based on a proposal of Assemblyman William Moseley Jones, Democrat, and former EPIC leader, and amended to provide:
That mortgagees must pay their current taxes and ten percent of delinquent taxes and meet their insurance. The amount of interest to be paid on the principal will be left to the discretion of superior courts. The moratorium will continue until September 1, 1935.
During the second part of the session, beginning early in March, the legislature will work out a permanent plan to replace the compromise.
Conclusion of the Assembly-Senate fight paved the way for early adjournment. The State lawmakers expected to return home tomorrow for the 30 day constitutional recess before beginning actual work on a program to balance the State budget and relief for employees.

Camporall Site Here Accepted By B. S. Board

Boy Scout executives, meeting yesterday in San Francisco, accepted the invitation of the local Scouters to hold the big Northern California Camporall in Richmond in October.
The executives, representing Scouters from Fresno to the Oregon line, were told by Dr. A. B. Hinkley, president of the local Boy Scout executives, of the cooperation offered by the Richmond city council, the chamber of commerce, service clubs and the American Legion. As a result of his talk, the officials decided to have the Scouts hold their two day encampment here.
Between 2000 and 3000 Boy Scouts and about 500 leaders will attend the encampment on October 12 and 13. The affair will be held at Nicholl Park. The American Legion has made the Camporall a civic service project for the year.
During yesterday's meeting a discussion was also held by the Boy Scouts National Jamboree which will be held in Washington in August. Twenty-five local Scouters will attend.
Dr. Hinkley, Herbert L. Hunn and Scout Executive Donald Seaman attended the session from Richmond.

$350,000 IN LOOT TAKEN BY BANDITS

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 26.—UP—Two bandits entered a hotel late tonight and robbed three New York guests of jewelry valued at $350,000.

These robbery victims, Mrs. J. E. Bell, Harry Johnston, Dr. Howard Blake, and George H. Andrews, all said to be from New York.

The robbery occurred in the Viceroy-Biltmore hotel from Havana street back where they stayed in the afternoon.

Mrs. Bell and Johnston were traced up and Mrs. Bell's gems, valued at $250,000, were taken. The bandits then took Contant's watch and chain and some coins.

Dr. Blake and Andrews had stepped into another room of the suite when the robbers entered. One bandit pointed a gun at Mrs. Bell, who maid shrieked and locked herself in the bathroom.

The screams terminated a tangle in a nearby salon and guests rushed in to find Dr. Blake and Andrews liberating Mrs. Bell and Johnston.

The icy waters moved south to the Panola-Quitman county basin. The Quitman county court house here was a center for refugees who filled almost every room in the building. Public buildings were turned into relief stations. Marks, a village of 1200 citizens, was a virtual island.

Crack-up of B. Hauptmann Is Predicted

ELMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 26.—UP—The prosecution who are trying to send Bruno Richard Hauptmann to the electric chair for the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., predicted tonight he would crack within a week.

But there is not, and never has been, a tremor in his muscles, nor any indication that he would break under the terrible strain.

The prosecution, in its prediction that Hauptmann would bring the drama to the most crashing climax possible—a complete crack-up and confession unquestionably based its conclusions entirely on Hauptmann's attitude under the cross-questioning of the attorney general.

He was dazed and confounded by the appearance of the "little look" found in his house, in which the word "boat" was spelled "head." The defense had not expected that. And he is going to be taken back, more than once, by the production of other books, papers, documents, that will be shown before his eyes.

Attorney General Wilentz said tonight he had "a thousand questions to ask Mr. Hauptmann which he cannot answer." He is going to ask them Monday morning, and he expects to conclude cross-examination within the day.

"We expect him to confess before this thing is over," Joseph Lankian, assistant attorney general, said.
The government already has shown that Hauptmann—or Hauptmann and Fisch, according to the prisoner—lost $7,000 on the market at a time when Hauptmann was telling all his friends he had "found a new racket" in speculation.

IMPOSITION 2 SENTENCES NOT LEGAL

MARTINEZ, Jan. 26.—(Herald)—The law does not permit the imposition of a double and sentence upon a prisoner. Superior Judge Thomas W. Johnston today entered the release from the county jail here of Verdie A. Black, 34, of Richmond, and opened the way for another prisoner, Ben Hendry, 32, of Pittsburg, to escape sentence of nearly two years on a drunkenness charge.

Black, who resides at 274 Macdonald avenue, Richmond, was sentenced by Police Judge C. A. Odell on December 11 to serve 20 days in jail and pay a fine of $100 on a charge of driving a car while under the influence of liquor.

Another bill by the Senator provides that in partial redemption to be made on property sold to the State, separately from the whole assessment. This privilege only applies in cases where a portion of a lot or parcel of land has been transferred to a new owner and the deed has actually been delivered. It applies likewise to trust deeds.

The segregated portion can be redeemed and the remainder of the originally assessed portion continues in the ownership of the State.

A partial redemption is permissible under the proposed law until all of the personal property taxes have been paid.

Tax Relief Planned By 2 Measures

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—In an effort to lighten the burden upon taxpayers in acquisition and improvement districts, Senator Fletcher of San Diego has introduced a bill in the legislature which provides that where property has been devoted to the State, following the expiration of the five year period for redemption, the property shall carry such property on a supplemental roll and placed a real estate value thereon.

This valuation will be used by the board of supervisors when the rate for road or acquisition districts is determined.

It has been the practice to remove such properties that have been devoted to the State from the assessment roll with the result that other taxpayers have been forced to assume an increased rate of taxation and many of them to lose their property.

Another bill by the Senator provides that in partial redemption to be made on property sold to the State, separately from the whole assessment. This privilege only applies in cases where a portion of a lot or parcel of land has been transferred to a new owner and the deed has actually been delivered. It applies likewise to trust deeds.

The segregated portion can be redeemed and the remainder of the originally assessed portion continues in the ownership of the State.

A partial redemption is permissible under the proposed law until all of the personal property taxes have been paid.

The troops assembled after State troops forced surrender of 75 so-called "Square Dealers" who assembled at the airport in defiance of a martial law edict.

Shouts of "down with Long" (Senator Huey P. Long) and "to hell with Long" marked the assemblage.

The soldiers, in possession of the field after dispersing the Square Dealers, accepted a challenge of "come on you Long dogs" and hurled the bombs.

The mob retreated. A second volley sent them helter skelter.

The troops then climbed into trucks and drove to their headquarters.

BOXING BOARD IS ATTACKED FOR DECISION

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—UP—The New York State Athletic Commission which has been attempting to answer "what is wrong with boxing" apparently has ended all conjecture by putting the finger on itself.

Its action in reversing the decision of judges and referee who voted Eddie "Babe" Risko winner over Vince Dundee at Madison Square Garden was regarded today by boxing men as the most damaging of a recent flurry of blows struck at boxing.

While the press failed to agree on who won the slow fight between two of the most awkward main bout performers ever seen in action here, there was unanimity on two points:

1. It wasn't worth all the hula-hoo which has set in as an aftermath.

2. The commission wandered out of its jurisdiction in reversing the decision of its own officials.

Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick, president of the Garden, led the anvil chorus today in a 300-word statement in which he blamed the boxing commission for the woes of the Garden and boxing.

Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston of the Garden cocked his derby and came through as usual with his gem of a statement. The man who is supposed to be sticking a knife in the back of the game asked simply:

"If the commission has no confidence in officials and will not back their decisions why are they appointed?"

"Just add to that for me, please, that the officials are incapable, to use a nice word, and the commission is even worse."

The commission's position is made even more ridiculous because it not only reversed its officials but one of its recent edicts, which provides that the winner of a majority of rounds in a close fight need not be declared the winner if his opponent won the fewer rounds by a wide margin and inflicted more punishment.

This regulation was established after the Sammy Fuller-Peter Jackson bout of a few weeks ago, when Fuller floored Jackson repeatedly and beat him badly only to lose the decision because, as officials explained, Jackson had taken more rounds, though by scant margin.

Ruether Signs Contract With Seattle Tribe

SEATTLE, Jan. 26.—UP—Walter "Dutch" Ruether, voted the Coast baseball league's outstanding manager last year, today signed a contract to manage the Seattle Indians in 1935.

William H. Klepper, president of the Seattle club, today filed a protest against the proposal of Los Angeles President Dave Fleming to limit rosters of Coast League teams to 16 experienced players and nine rookies. Klepper held it would reduce the league

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—UP—Youngsters don't all have to come to Hollywood to earn big money.

There's horse racing for instance. The Jackie Cooper of the turf is Little Maurice Peters. He won the 1934 national jockey championship. It was his first year on the track. He booted some 221 winners, including home of the best and the worst horseflesh running. By so doing, he earned something like $16,000 in fees for himself and $200,000 for the owners of the horses he piloted.

That's no small change for a 17-year-old.

A bashful retiring youngster, Maurice confesses that it took him three years to get out of the eighth grade in Brandford, N. D. grammar school. But there's nothing dull about his riding. He is possessed of a remarkable memory as well as a great skill in the saddle.

KLICK MEETS BARNEY ROSS MONDAY NIGHT

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 26.—UP—The men of la boxe, who will perform Monday night on Miami's "card of champions," today completed their training.

Barney Ross of Chicago, who will risk his junior welterweight title in the first round head line go with Frankie Klick of California, wound up his work with an intensive drill on the beach with three cameramen, an assortment of blondes, and a Scotch terrier named Sandy, whose only talent was chasing sticks thrown in the surf.

DANCES THURSDAY

Klick, a gent of the old school ended his in a smoky gymnasium where he stuck rights and lefts into a sand bag. Max Baer, heavy-weight champ of the world, who meets Jimmy Maloney for four rounds, really completed preparations last night by dancing a vivid rumba with Miss Carole Lombard, of the cinema, at a popular night club.

Maloney, now a traffic cop on Miami Beach finished his work with a brisk handling of the "stop-go" signal.

MEET MONDAY

The two light heavyweight contenders who will meet in the semi-windup of ten rounds—Joe Knight of Cairo, Ga., and Tony Shucro, of Boston—tapered off by sitting in their hotel rooms and telling one and all what a cinch they were.

Eddy Baer, who will step six heats against Homer Davenport, followed his usual routine—going about explaining he was Max's brother, was much bigger than Max and that only family pride prevented him from taking the title without any more ado.

"CAN'T MISS"

Davenport could not be located. Promoter Mike Jacobs could, however, he was in the ticket office all day, his face wreathed in smiles.

"It can't miss now," Jacobs said. "We've got $25,000 already sold, which means we'll do at least $10,000, and maybe an even fifty. The postponement helped us. We didn't have ten tickets turned back. Give us a warm day Monday and we'll show Madison Square Garden how to put on a fight in Florida."

Ross will go in against Klick on odds-on favorite. The lightweight champion has been very impressive in training and feels he'll end the thing before eight rounds have passed.

The eight rounds are inclined to fello him, but there is one strong dissenter—Mr. Klick. The Californian, while admitting that Ross is very good, will argue that with you all day that he hits harder, is tougher, and is gamer than Barney and sincerely believes he can lift the title.

BYRON NELSON IS LEADING IN S. F. GOLF PLAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—UP—A two-headed Scandinavian professional from Tearkana, Tex., ruled the roost tonight as the national match play open golf championships narrowed down to a select eight.

Byron Nelson, conqueror of Lawson Little, British and national amateur champion, gave a demonstration of sub-par golf in the second round of match play. His luckless victim was Victory Ghezzi of Hollywood. The movie town golfer was eliminated from the running by 4 and 3.

The second match play round proved to be the undoing of many favorites. Gene Sarazen, Johnnie Dawson, Olin Dutra and Ben Lovelag, heavily boosted for the $5,000 tournament, fell by the wayside.

Sarazen was taken down the line by "Light Horse" Harry Cooper, another veteran of the fairways, 2 and 1.

Dawson, only amateur to survive the first round, fell before the superb playing of Johnnie Revolta, runner-up in the recent Los Angeles open. The Milwaukee professional eliminated Dawson, 2 and 1.

A comparative unknown upset Dutra, national open champion, Clarence Clark, Bloomfield, N. J., a newcomer to the California gold fields, toppled the veteran campaigner, 2 and 1.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Reports persist that Homer Cummings, Attorney General, will quit the Cabinet to accept a partnership with the New York law firm of Chadbourne, Stanchfield and Levy, attorneys for various moguls of big business, incidentally, Homer has been urging the President to appoint George Whitehead of the same firm as District Attorney of southern New York. Various New Dealers have objected, particularly the Securities Commissioners, who point out that strict regulation of the stock market will depend on a crusading district attorney. Whitehead is alleged to be too closely connected with Wall Street—illustrative of the tremendous interest in Huey Long is the fact that Capitol telephone operators daily receive several hundred phone calls asking if he is going to speak. When he takes the floor the seats of his colleagues are empty, but long lines form outside the packed visitors' galleries.

Liquor dealers have flooded the country with so many offensive liquor ads that strict regulations regarding advertising will be promulgated. Federal Alcohol Administrator Choate expects to make the regulations effective in March. Tammany's Representative Sirovich makes a hobby of studying Masonic symbols and ceremonials, is frequently asked to lecture on the subject. The Western Union Telegraph Company which several weeks ago flatly refused to consider NRA codification, privately has sent word to Blue Eagle authorities that it has changed its mind, is now prepared to accept a code if given time to consider terms.

TWO COMMANDERS
In 1932 Walter Waters was commander of the "bonus army," and General Douglas MacArthur, Army Chief of Staff, was commander of the troops which evicted the veterans. A few days ago Waters visited MacArthur, sought his aid in getting a job. MacArthur sent him to General Frank T. Hines, head of the Veterans Bureau, and now Waters is clerk in that agency. Postal substitute workers have picked their fight for a fixed minimum wage. Last year they succeeded in putting through Congress a bill giving them $15 a week, but on the demand of Jim Farley it was vetoed. This session they hope to have better luck.

SEGREGATION
The Public Works Administration is embroiled in a racial tangle in Cleveland. Having undertaken a slum-clearance project for white persons, it announced last week another for Negroes. A blast of objection came immediately from organized Negroes against the government's going in for racial

FUN MAKERS TO FROLIC AT THE FOX TODAY

"College Rhythm" called "The All-American Musical of 1934" fills the Fox theater screen with gay tunes, roaring fun, romance and rollicking laughter. Joe "Wanna Buy a Duck" Penner, Jack Oakie, Lydia Robert, Lanny Ross, George Barbier, Mary Brian and Helen Mack assisted by beauty and pulchritude in the bevy of chorines known as the All-American Co-Eds, furnish a riot of melody, fun, dancing and glowing romance.

"College Rhythm" has few, if any dull moments in it. It travels from laughter to romance, from the thrill of football excitement to the romance of youth without reservations. Its song hits and dance melodies are sensations. Lanny Ross sings "Stay As Sweet As You Are" which is perhaps the big song hit of America. Lydia Robert, supported by a huge roving section, offers another hit in "Take A Number From One To Ten." Jack Oakie and Lydia Penner, an intriguing dance number, college rhythm. "Let's Give Three Cheers For Love" offers a new and catchy musical idea for a college yell of victory.

As a climax Joe Penner's famous duck "Goo-Goo" plays an important part in the great fun.

By GUY KIBBEE
HOLLYWOOD Jan. 26.—UP—Rudy Vallee is one of the swiftest young men I ever met. He's a genius as a musician and as a showman. He's a good actor. He's a loyal college man and a credit to his parents. But he's all wrong when it comes to picking beautiful women, and I can prove it.

Let's go back to Cleopatra and Helen of Troy and on up to Lillian Russell. Not one of them weighed under 160 pounds.

Look at the models of Michael Angelo and Raphael. Were they slim and fragile? They were not.

The New Universities Dictionary defines beauty as "an assemblage of graces or properties which command the approbation of the senses."

When a girl is so slim, you have to look at her twice to make sure you saw her—how can she be an "assemblage of graces?"

Young Vallee has very good taste in females. His list shows that he has picked as pretty a lot of women as anybody would on a world journey.

He selected alphabetically Joan Crawford, Marion Davies, Marlene Dietrich, Dolores Del Rio, Ann Dvorak, Alice Faye, Greta Garbo, Carole Lombard, Ginger Rogers, Ann Southern, Barbara Stanwyck and Fay Wray.

This is only about 1,320 pounds of beauty in all.

You could almost equal this with Kate Smith and a couple of blondes from any Mintz Brothers Revue.

When I was Rudy's age—and weight—I may have made the mistake that he has made, but all the great classical painters could not have been wrong.

From Hebe to Hippolyte, Queen of the Amazons, beauty proclaimed the grandeur of size.

It is impressive, only if it carries weight.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—It looks as if New York is going in for art in a bigger way than ever before. Encouragement by patrons and private organizations has been plentiful enough in the past, but now even the politicians are beginning to worry about Beethoven, Michel Angelo and Shakespeare.

The latest scheme, proposed by Mayor La Guardia, is for municipal patronage of the fine arts—principally music, drama and painting—which would put New York on a cultural level with Paris, Berlin and Vienna. A committee of 118 distinguished artists and patrons, including Mrs. Vincent Astor, Norman Bel Geddes, Walter Damrosch, John Erskine, Mrs. H. Guggenheim, Miss Anne Morgan and others, will formulate a progressive program in this direction. A municipal orchestra, a municipal art center and, perhaps, an opera comique are the objectives for which they plan to work.

The Mayor favors the use of artists now receiving relief from the Public Works Administration as the nucleus of the contemplated projects. By taking them off the relief rolls and placing them on salaries, it is expected that the artists will do better work and the city will benefit to a much greater extent than now.

The outlook is thus for better-bred symphonies instead of Sousa Marches at future political rallies. We hope the district leaders have an ear for good music.

THREE FOR FIFTY
Another step in bringing art to the people has been made by Mrs. Efram Zimbalist, wife of the eminent violinist, Mrs. Zimbalist runs a "Ten Dollar Gallery" at her home in East 35th Street, and is finding that there's a public for good pictures at moderate prices.

If you've been led to believe that fine paintings must cost in the hundreds or thousands, this gallery, where a school teacher, a clerk, a plumber, a weaver or anyone else may be a patron, will be a revelation to the casual visitor. There are no gallery fees.

Members Of Crew Of Jap Fishing Boat Are Saved

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—Sailors of the S. S. Norfolk drove their lifeboats through heavy seas today to save the crew of a Japanese fishing vessel which was drifting helplessly south of the Japanese Archipelago.

The rescue was effected by the American ship after an all-night vigil during a storm in latitude 30.51 north, longitude 140.30 east. The S. S. General Sherman described the heroism of the officers and the crew of the Norfolk in a radio message to the United Press. The Norfolk, bound for Port Arthur, Texas, to Shanghai, sighted flares in the Pacific shortly after midnight Friday. She hoisted to. High waves and the darkness prevented the crew from aiding the 150-foot vessel immediately. At daybreak the first lifeboat was launched. The men drove it through the high seas to the side of the fishing craft and took off the captain, the first mate and an engineer.

Patricia Burke, an American girl stranded in Rome, goes to the village of Marvella to apply for the job of governess for the Countess Dei Sari's little boy. She meets a young American, Dirk Waters, who tells her that Count Dei Sari and his son by Count Dei Sari are in a bad way. She is up to some "dirty work." The Count, meanwhile, has hinted to her that the Countess is mentally unbalanced. He engages Pat as governess, and shortly afterward she receives a secret note from Dirk asking if there is a "prisoner" in the Dei Sari castle. The evening while in the library she hears a commotion in the hall and, peeping out, sees the Count and Sergio bending over an unconscious man.

CHAPTER XXIII
FIGHTING down a stronger fear than she had yet experienced, Pat hastily settled herself in a chair with a book and was apparently engrossed in reading when Sergio reentered the room.

"Ah," he said, "Find something interesting?"
"Yes," Pat lied calmly. "Would your father mind if I took this to my room?"
"Father minds nothing except interference," Sergio answered, smiling. "That fool Salvatore's back again."

"What a nuisance!"
But Pat didn't believe him this time. Who was the unknown man? Was he the prisoner for whom Dirk was looking?

"Yes," Sergio went on, "and you should see what he succeeded in doing to Father. He persuaded for a moment, then said quietly, 'But you did see of course.'"
"See what?" Pat asked innocently.

Sergio came close, and looked down at her eyes dark.
"Don't lie to me, Miss Burke," he said softly. "I saw you open that door."

Pat drew her breath in sharply. She had been caught. Now she must find some plausible excuse.
"I was afraid you'd be irritated by my curiosity," she said, "but I heard such a racket that I could not resist looking."

Sergio laughed shortly. "Woman, a woman," he murmured. "It's lucky Father didn't notice you. I don't mind harmless curiosity, but it's a mania with him and he gets frightfully irritated. Listen, Pat—may I call you Pat?—have faith in me. Don't always be so reserved. Did you let Dirk Waters put you against me, after all?"

Pat would almost have preferred a direct attack to this apparent offer of friendship.
"I don't let myself be influenced by anyone," she said amiably, "and I'm very pleased with my position here. I don't know what you mean when you say 'have faith.'"
"Don't pretend to be stupid," Sergio exclaimed, with an impatient gesture. "You know quite well what I mean. You don't like the castle. You don't like us. You think the atmosphere is peculiar. Well, it is. But believe me, I am your friend—the only friend you have, perhaps—and you must have faith in me. I can save you a lot of trouble but, if you won't listen to me—he shrugged—"I can't promise anything."

HE HAD spoken almost fiercely, and Pat had the impression that he was sincere. Anyway, she was sure that, whatever his game might be, he liked her. But he also frightened her.
"I do believe you," she said quietly, "but I see no occasion to need your help or — or anyone else's."
He smiled. "Life is an uncertain matter," he retorted, "and you can't know when you may need help. Sooner than you think."

This constant fencing with words wearied Pat but she must not falter.
"If I need help," she promised, lightly, "I'll remember your offer. Probably when it's too late, I'll move her."
A moment later the subject changed. "The Countess," he said, "appeared. Soon afterwards Pat

NEWS AND REVIEWS By Mrs. Carl W. Longacre

BEER WAS INDICTED UNDER NRA CODE

An indictment was returned in the Federal district court at Lake Charles, Louisiana, last month, against Anheuser-Busch, Inc., of St. Louis, invoking for the first time the provision of the brewery industry's code which forbids the prohibition practice by big brewers of subsidizing saloons to sell their beers. According to press reports, Anheuser-Busch is charged with furnishing "free" equipment and fixtures to seventeen bars and other beer retailers in the Lake Charles area, with the stipulation that the bars sell that concern's beer exclusively.

This indictment, it is said, is only one of a series which have been obtained throughout the country on similar grounds. The same firm was convicted by the Eastern district court of Louisiana last August, on a similar charge, the decree handed down by the court ordering cancellation of the exclusive contracts and renouncing of title in the fixtures.

ALCOHOL IN THE RIVER

The college of Agriculture at Cornell (New York) University has made tests to determine the effect of the use of alcohol upon the efficiency of motor car driving, and reports that liability to error is increased by moderate doses by from 2 to 25 errors per minute.

RELIEF MONEY BEING SENT FOR LIQUOR

That drunks and vagrants are being given employment while worthy men so jobless is the charge recently made by Municipal Judge Frank Deasy of San Francisco.

"Every day during the last week," said Judge Deasy, as quoted by the press, "some 25 to 30 common bums appeared before me for drunkenness or vagrancy, and every one of them immediately flashes a certificate as proof that he is not a 'vag'."

"These men get in a couple of days a week, then immediately proceed to spend their money for liquor and lie around the rest of the week in the gutter."

PROMISES ARE CITED

The National Voice of Los Angeles compares the promises of the wet with the results of repeal as follows:

Promise No. 1: "Repeal will do away with the bootlegger." The director of alcoholic administration, Joseph Choate, appointed by President Roosevelt says: "Bootlegging has increased 100 fold since repeal."

Promise No. 2: "Repeal will decrease crime." Mr. Choate says: "Crime has increased at an alarming rate."

Promise No. 3: "We will have no saloons after repeal." "We have four times as many saloons as we had before prohibition."

Promise No. 4: "Repeal will lighten the work of our courts." Judge Falconer of Los Angeles says, "Drunks have increased in this court 129 per cent." Drunks

Each member of the band brought their instruments and informed Morris of their arrival by giving a serenade.

Cards entertained the self-invited guests during the evening, and after supper had been partaken of Morris opened his studio for inspection, displaying his collection of Indian relics, operatic music and pictures of the history of music.

Those comprising the party were: William Anderson, Herbert Boese, James Brien, Donald and Robert Crisler, Robert Dormes, Willard Egan, Charles Hill, Richard Kellner, Jack Leake, Elmo Randall, and Forest Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. George Morris.

Charges are Moderate

It is well to remember that a beautiful mortuary does not mean high prices, as this firm proves. With all the refinements and comforts to be found here, charges are never higher than the smallest incomes can easily afford. By including everything in one plainly marked price, we have made it possible for every family to make an appropriate selection without financial hardship.

Death Note Of Murder Suspect Told By Lawyers

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 26.—UP—Attorneys for Philip Knammer today released the text of the extortion note they said figured in his killing of John Gorrell, Jr., last Thanksgiving night.

The note threatened "certain and painful death" for "one or more" of the children of H. F. Wilcox, all millionaires, to whom it was addressed and it demanded $20,000.

The note was signed "John Doe" and was said by the defense to have been written by Gorrell, although the document itself was not made available for inspection.

"We have released it because we want the prosecution to know that there was indeed such a note," said A. Flint Moss, chief defense counsel.

Lesson Subject at Science Church

"Teach me they say 'O Lord I will walk in thy truth; unite my heart to fear thy name.' These words from Psalm comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, January 27, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass."

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Truth." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled." (Matthew 5: 17, 18).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be included: "The so-called laws of mortal belief are destroyed by the understanding that Soul is immortal, and that mortal mind cannot legislate the times, periods, and types of disease, with which mortals die. God is the law-maker, but He is not the author of barbarous codes." (p. 381).

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

Bubonic Plague Is Very Dangerous Disease Which Can Come From Any Ship Visiting Orient

PLAGUE is another one of the diseases that we associate with far off countries and feel that we do not have to worry about. It does no good to worry, but as communication between many countries increases we find that we often import many things we did not order. So with plague. In recent years it has made its appearance in many of the ports of the Gulf of Mexico, at San Francisco and Los Angeles. It can be expected in any port receiving cargo from the Orient. Plague is an infectious disease of man, caused by the germ pasteurella pestis. It is primarily a disease of rodents, particularly of rats which inhabit human dwellings.

In California it has been found in certain wild ground squirrels. When plague appears among humans it is usually found that there is an epidemic among the rats in the neighborhood, and many are found dead. Plague is carried to the human by the rat flea with which the rats and squirrels are infested.

It is thought that bed bugs and the human flea may carry the disease from man to man. The disease develops suddenly, two or three days after the flea bite, with high fever, headache, dizziness, exhaustion, and pain in the back and limbs.

The bubonic type, which is the most common and provides the usual name of bubonic plague, commences suddenly with very painful swellings and inflammation of the glands of the groin, under the arm pits, and on the neck. The fever rises rapidly, the pulse becomes very rapid, as does also the breathing. The pain in the affected glands becomes excessive, vomiting and diarrhoea are common, the face grows drawn and anxious.

The patient staggers as if drunk, the mind becomes dull, and weakness is extreme. The fever is irregular, low in the morning, and high in the evening. In those cases that recover it drops suddenly and remains low, but in fatal cases it may drop and then rise to 107 degrees or 108 degrees with collapse and death.

The skin is hot and dry, and red or purple spots may appear, due to hemorrhage into the skin. The inflamed glands may subside or break down and discharge pus.

In the septicemic type, the usual symptoms are more severe, running a very rapid and fatal course, but without the development of buboes or nodules. Frequently the disease attacks the lungs at the beginning, commencing in one lobe and rapidly spreading to the others. The sputum is blood stained and watery, unlike the ordinary pneumonia in which it is blood stained but viscid and sticky.

It is rapidly fatal in almost all cases. Bubonic plague can be distinguished from other glandular troubles, such as rabbit fever, or infected glands, due to sore throat or tuberculosis. This can be done by microscopic examination of the serum or blood from the infected glands or the sputum in bubonic pneumonia. The death rate is from thirty to seventy-five per cent.

THE treatment consists of good nursing, stimulants, and tonics, and the use of anti-plague serum. This, if given early and in sufficiently large doses, will be very helpful.

Anti-plague vaccines may protect those exposed to the disease for a short time. Doctors and nurses handling plague patients should wear rubber gloves and a heavy mask.

Our great protection is the United States Public Health Service along the seaboard. They are continually watching incoming vessels for suspicious cases. When an epidemic starts, they use all known methods to rid the district of rats and wild ground squirrels. We must all be alert and watch that the money and personnel of the Public Health Service are not curtailed.

C. C. N.: The white spots in your tonsils are not pus, but are a secretion that can harbor infection. Repeated treatments with iodine preparation will sometimes close these crypts. Being imbedded makes their removal more difficult, but not impossible. Another possible way is to sear the surface of the tonsil with an electric cauterizer.

DRY SKIN CRIES FOR THE BLAND TYPE OF SOAPS

By JACQUELINE HUNT

FOR most satisfactory results with your daily soap-and-water cleansing follow the method that is specially recommended for your skin condition and texture. The very dry skinned will naturally select a bland soap and use it differently than the woman with a coarse, oily skin. The dry-skinned woman may or may not use a quick melting cleansing cream before washing. If cream is used first, wipe off as much of the soiled oil as possible with tissues. Then let a bit of tepid water run into your wash bowl and use enough of the soap to make the water sudsy. Dip your wash cloth in this, wring out a little of the water and wash thoroughly. You will need a bit more soap if you have used cream previously to get every trace of it from the pores.

Next rinse and rinse in tepid water and finally in cold. The dry, sensitive skinned woman should avoid extremely hot or extremely cold water. The thorough rinsing also applies to all of you, minute particles of soap or dust left on the skin clogs pores and causes irritation.

For the excessively oily skin that shows enlarged pores and blackheads, the technique is quite different. Use a coarse washcloth or a complexion brush, dip in warm water and work up a very stiff lather directly on the brush or cloth.

First, however, you should hold a washcloth dipped in quite warm water over your face to soften the skin. Then work the soapy cloth or brush in small rotary movements over your chin, nose and forehead. Do not neglect the cheeks either if they show clogged pores. Continue massaging the lather into the pores for a couple of minutes. The massage helps arouse the sluggish circulation, which in turn corrects the over-activity of the oil glands.

After the lather has been thoroughly worked into the pores, rinse with tepid water until every bit of the soap is gone. A simple test for soapiness is to run your fingers over your skin. If the skin is slippery, your rinsing was inadequate. After the soap has been removed rinse your skin in the coldest water available. This will help close the pores. A skin tonic or astringent may also be advisable in cases of extreme oiliness.

The normal skin is easiest of all to care for, but you should not neglect the daily thorough washing with soap and water if you want to preserve its beauty. Remove all embedded grime and cosmetics and rinse the skin thoroughly. Often the final rinse with cold water is sufficient to keep the skin firm and toned and fine in texture.

Roy Chapman Andrews Is Most Successful Investigator of Dinosaur Eggs and Far Regions

PERHAPS now that Roy Chapman Andrews has been made director of the American Museum of Natural History in New York, it is rather to be doubted, because this scientist has got the habit of wandering over Gobi deserts and Himalaya mountains looking for dinosaur eggs. A dinosaur egg for breakfast every day would make Dr. Andrews the happiest man alive.

Dr. Andrews hails from Beloit, Wis., and he went to Beloit College twenty-eight years ago. After graduation, however, he set out for New York City because a big museum was there. He went right to Dr. H. C. Bumpus, director then, and asked if he could have a job sweeping floors. Dr. Bumpus remonstrated that a boy of his education could not want to sweep floors, but young Andrews replied he did not mean any floors, but those of the museum.

The repartee was successful and he got the sweeping job.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "Can you tell me how to correct a sway-back condition? I guess you would call it that. I have a deep hollow at the small of my back and it is impossible to get dresses to fit well."

Here is an exercise that will help strengthen the muscles that hold your back straight. However, if the condition is very pronounced and has existed for a long while, it would be wise for you to consult a physician. For the exercise, lie on the floor on a pad, with your hips flat against a wall. Naturally, your knees will be doubled up against your chest. Now put your feet on the wall and walk them upwards as high as you can reach, so the weight of the body is supported between the shoulder blades. Return to the first position, slowly. Repeat five to ten times.

QUESTION: "I thought that I would look better with thinner eyebrows, so I shaved them all off except a line. Now I look sort of naked and dumb. How can I make them grow in again in a hurry?"—Bobby.

I'm afraid you will just have to suffer the consequences of your gesture. Your brows will look even worse when they start to grow in again, but for goodness sake leave them alone. Apply a little warm olive oil nightly and brush with a little eyebrow brush until the skin is pink. This will hurry up the regrowth as much as anything can.

Tasty and Nourishing Dishes for Today

Smoked Ham Is One of Most Economical Meats for Larder

By JUDITH WILSON

FOR any family of three or more a half or whole ham is a wise investment, both for the economy and the convenience. Whether you cook the smoked ham keeps its fine flavor and it can be served in dozens of intriguing forms.

When buying a whole ham it is wise to have the butcher trim it, remove the bone, tie securely and cut in half. In this way the nicest half can be used for spicing and baking for a company dinner and the other half for slicing for breakfast ham or as needed for special dishes.

The ham bones make a delicious broth that can be used as the basis for soups or for cooking vegetables. Left-overs and scraps of ham can be ground and used for sandwich fillings, for adding to scrambled eggs and for casseroles. Do not serve every day as the ham, if well-wrapped does not dry out or lose flavor. Here are a few of the dishes you can get from your smoked ham.

Ham with Dried Limas

Soak one cup dried limas overnight in cold water. In the morning drain and put into a buttered baking dish with a layer of sliced onions. Add one cup hot water and top with a slice of raw ham. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for one hour, uncover and bake thirty minutes longer. With a crisp cabbage salad and hot dessert your meal is complete. Except for piping hot, fragrant coffee.

Corn and Ham Pie

Make a sauce of three tablespoons shortening and three tablespoons flour. When thick and smooth add one cup hot milk and water. When smooth add one-half cup diced left-over chicken, one-half cup diced ham, three chopped green olives and one eighth teaspoon curry powder. Add one cup canned corn, and put into a buttered baking dish. Dot with butter, sprinkle with paprika and bake until brown in a hot oven.

Eggs Benedict Cold boiled ham is used for this delightful breakfast entrée. Split, butter and toast until light brown the needed number of English biscuits. Cut rounds of cooked ham and saute in butter until light brown. Lay on top of the toasted bread and top each one with a poached egg. Serve with a hollandaise cream sauce or with Hollandaise and garnish with a bit of sauteed mushrooms.

Ham Baked with Cider Put a thick slice of ham to boil with three sliced carrots, three sliced onions, one stalk celery, two sprigs parsley, one-half teaspoon whole cloves, one-half teaspoon allspice and one-fourth teaspoon peppercorns. Cook until tender and drain. Mix one cup dry bread crumbs, one cup brown sugar, one teaspoon mustard and enough vinegar to hold the crumbs together. Coat the ham slice with this and put into a baking dish. Pour over one cup sweet cider and bake until brown and most of the cider has evaporated. This will serve four.

Ham-Cheese Croquettes

Combine two cups hot mashed potatoes with the lightly beaten yolks of three eggs. Blend with one cup minced ham, one cup grated American cheese, salt and paprika to season. Form into balls, roll in sifted bread crumbs and fry in deep fat until golden brown.

MOLES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "A young woman in our set is truthful to a fault. At a dance recently she told a young man for whom she does not care that she does not enjoy dancing with him. We all were shocked by her rudeness, but she says it was a kindness, because now she is rid of him for good and won't have to be making up lies and excuses for getting rid of him. What do you think?"—M. L.

ANSWER: That the young woman referred to rather underestimates the average intelligence. If a girl does not care to dance with a given young man, she does not have to be rude or insulting. The situation does not call for a major operation. Any young man will know after several refusals with some polite excuse that he is not wanted. It does not pay to get one's self disliked when it is not necessary.

You and Your Child

TACT SHOULD BE TAUGHT EARLY IN CHILD'S LIFE

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

THE family was taking a leisurely walk when two unkempt, strange looking men came into view. They took long strides and were walking rapidly. At the same time their hands were moving wildly, and both appeared to be talking at once. As they passed an air of disturbance went with them, and though they spoke a foreign tongue it was evident that they were not quarreling. They were angry.

Ten-year-old Ralph had been lagging behind his mother and aunt until the two men appeared. At this point of the walk, however, he was practically abreast of his mother. The boy stopped for a second and he grinned. He had seen the men.

As they passed Ralph snickered behind his hand. He started forward. For he certainly was a joke worth sharing with his older cousins walking arm in arm just ahead.

Nothing came of the impulse, however. His mother, guessing what was in his mind, put out a restraining hand and said firmly, "That will do, Ralph."

Ralph sobered down at once and picked up a stone to hurl soon forgot the incident.

Finding themselves alone, mother said to her companion, "They were funny looking. Didn't you think so?" Aunt nodded her head. "Like comic characters, but," she said with a frown, "I don't understand. If you thought it funny too, why did you stop Ralph from enjoying himself?"

"He has to learn tact," his mother explained. "I do not laugh out whenever I am amused and neither do you, but he would. If the joke is at another's expense, we consider the other fellow's feelings. But Ralph being a child is true to his impulses. He likes a joke and would, I believe, make the most of anything which suggested the slightest joke. He is free to express himself and I want him to have a good time. But whenever I happen to be present and mirth is out of order, I shall make it my business to enforce restraint. I do not expect him to know better than to laugh and ridicule another when he sees a chance for fun. That is why I choose to teach him now and in this way. Otherwise, how else will he ever learn tact and good taste?"

MODERN WOMEN

By C. N. CHRISTMAN, M.D.

Scandal Still Exists in the World, But Where Conscience Is Clear It Can Be Overlooked

IT'S invariably amazing to discover how conservative we moderns really are. Tolerant in theory, but curiously intolerant when it comes to some specific case.

Scandal is still the sweetener in the tea cup. I although there is no question that busy women have less interest in gossip than idle ones. Idle chatter about the affairs of one's neighbors is not as damaging to their reputations as it once was. In the case discussed today the up-and-above movements described can hardly fail to be disarming.

"Dear Mrs. Martin: I am wondering what you think of the following situation. I am a married woman in early thirties and have a good, devoted husband. I have not been in good health, having recovered very slowly from the flu, and the doctor advised my going south if possible. We have friends there, with whom I am staying. Just about the time I was to leave a friend of ours was going to Florida by motor and we all decided that it was a fine opportunity for me to go along. Now, our friends and neighbors have made a great tale of it, about my going on a three or four day motor trip with a man and leaving my husband all alone. I must say none of us thought of that aspect of the case. Now we are all very much upset by the gossip that is going around. I am better, but am planning to stay here all winter, with my husband's consent, of course. He is comfortable at home and gets his meals out. The man who drove me down is also here, as he came on business, and that is adding to the talk. What should we do about this very unpleasant situation?" Mrs. D.S.

NOTHING. Preserve a tranquil front and avoid anything that may seem like indiscretion in your conduct when away, particularly with the man with whom you drove down. Since you are all sure of yourselves and each other, your position is much stronger than it would be if there were any irregularity in the situation.

I am sure that if you maintain a perfectly unruffled exterior that the malicious gossip will die down. I suppose, the world being what it is, there was bound to be some gossip about your perfectly harmless acceptance of a lift from an old friend. As long as your husband acquiesced in the plan, and there is no wife to be considered, I cannot see what business it is for your acquaintances—you certainly cannot call them friends.

AVOID an elaborate explanation and have any statement of the facts, if possible, come from your husband.

It's extremely annoying to be hemmed in by conventions, some of which should have been scrapped long ago, but communities being what, unfortunately, they are, it's better to avoid defying them.

Under the circumstances, you did a perfectly sensible thing every viewpoint excepting that of the old busybody, Mrs. Grundy, and I think, fortified as you are, you can afford to ignore that viewpoint.

Sophisticates usually know that when irregularities exist the parties concerned make every effort to camouflage their movements.

Back in that glorious Florida sunshine and don't dramatize the situation, making yourself the central figure of a conspiracy or anything of the sort.

When you get back home, and these troublemakers, actuated probably by envy, see that you and your husband are perfectly oblivious to them, they will probably begin to feel a little ridiculous, and that is as good a revenge as anyone can have.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rain' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral waters, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feelings is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath flows freely, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Refrain a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

OPEN PROBE IN SINKING OF STEAMER

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—UP—Sinking of the Ward liner Mohawk with a loss of 46 lives may result in a Congressional investigation, it appeared tonight as the steamboat inspection service investigated the third maritime disaster among Ward line boats in six months.

Rep. Samuel Dickstein, D. N. Y., said he would introduce a resolution in the House Monday designed to deny clearance to any Ward Line vessel until the company can satisfy the government that "it is fit to send ships to sea without jeopardizing the lives of passengers."

HEAR CAPTAIN
The steamboat board of inquiry heard Capt. Edmund Wang of the freighter Talisman, which sank the Mohawk in a collision off the New Jersey coast, testify that Captain Joseph E. Wood, master of the Mohawk, rejected his offer to lower lifeboats. Captain Wood went down with his boat.

The master of the Talisman told how the Mohawk, outbound, passed on the port side of the Talisman, then swerved across the Talisman's bow. The Talisman's engines were reversed, to no avail. The freighter ripped a huge gash in the Mohawk's side and remained fast.

TELLS STORY
Wang said he asked Captain Wood whether he should lower lifeboats or whether he wanted to keep the ship locked until the extent of the damage was determined. His repeated requests went unanswered, he said, and he ordered the Talisman astern and pulled away.

The Mohawk sank 40 minutes later with 117 of her crew and passengers safely in lifeboats. These were rescued. The sea still was giving up bodies of the 46 who perished. Several seamen were killed outright.

The inquiry was prefaced by a statement by Joseph Weaver, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Navigation. He said "a thorough and unsparing" investigation, which may develop legislation for greater security on the seas, would be conducted.

"There is going to be a comprehensive investigation to determine what caused this wreck and who was responsible," he said.

Preliminary investigation indicated the Mohawk's steering apparatus snapped, throwing the rudder out of control, as she passed the Talisman.

"I understand," said Weaver, "that this boat had been laid up for some time and was making her first trip. I am going to call the last man who worked on the steering gear and go into that phase thoroughly."

MORE MONEY ASKED FOR JOB RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—UP—The job relief wage level of $20 a month planned by the administration for 3,500,000 unemployed is being fought at the same rate for those too old to get jobs.

An increase in the $100,000,000 appropriation called for in the social legislation appeared likely when the bill is reported to the house by the ways and means committee. Attempts will be made to write up the old age "security pension" guarantee close to the work-relief wage level. Unemployed benefits of nearly the same amount may be required in state laws.

Members of the committee are being prodded by supporters of the radical Townsend old age pension plan.

The fact that the federal government under the present bill, would aid states only to the extent of $15 a month for each person over 65, has disturbed some members. Several indicated they wanted to let a federal contribution to $20 a month, which would insure a month of pension with state contributions of $10 or near the $20 "security wage level."

The attitude of several committee members was that if $50 month was considered a minimum living wage for 3,500,000 jobless, somewhere near that amount should be provided for the aged and temporary unemployed.

The committee today heard the Townsend $200-a-month pension plan denounced by Professor Douglas Brown of Princeton University. "It is dangerous to have old people feel these benefits are possible," he said. "The bill would kill the goose that lays the golden egg and set the old age pension movement back 40 years."

SOUNDS LIKE SURPLUS

The states employ 250,000 persons—1 state employee for every 485 men, women and children in the land. California employs 22,000 (not including the educational system) 1 for every 256 people. Putting it another way, every 66 families must support 1 state employee. Either the other 47 states of the Union are over-manned or California has an overwhelming surplus of state employees. Here is an expense that the time-worn "fixed charges" will not justify. But employees on the state payroll are but half the story. Like the overcoat in the salesman's expense account, there are more than you can see unless you have access to the roster of companies dealing in gasoline, insurance, etc.

For every 25 popular votes received by Roosevelt in 1932 a civilian is employed in federal service and the 950,000 on the payroll of Uncle Sam is soon to be increased.

ROCKY ROAD

Some readers may be inclined to think that there is but one thing on our middle toe we continually twang about taxes. Perhaps they will realize there are extraordinary circumstances when we make public the information that under impost contemplated by the new tax program every man, woman and child and babe in arms is due to dig up a total of $25 each from some place or other for the maintenance of the State government. Big business, small business and anything or anybody who looks like he has a stray nickel in his jeans will be forced to submit to search and disgorge to the end that the deficit be wiped out and as a State meet our obligations as they occur. Surely the way of the taxpayer during the next two years, like that of the transgressor, is going to be hard.

Famed Actor To Claim Bride At Eastern Church

BINGHAM, Mass., Jan. 26.—UP—Dean Jagger, movie and stage actor who played in the Broadway success, "Tobacco Road," was enroute here by air from Hollywood today to wed Miss Antoinette du Pre Lowrance, 21 year-old debutant.

Miss Lowrance said the ceremony would be performed by Dr. William H. P. Hatch, professor of literature at Harvard Theological School, at the First Episcopal church here tonight.

A graduate of Dana Hall School, Miss Lowrance herself was on the stage for two years, and it was during this interval that she met Jagger.

Miss Lowrance is a daughter of Mrs. John M. Lowrance in Hingham.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED IN LOUISIANA

armed resistance to his "military dictatorship" of the Baton Rouge area tonight, subduing 75 anti-Long Square Dealers with a show of National Guardsmen at the Baton Rouge airport, but without a shot being fired.

The Square Dealers, gathered for regular Saturday afternoon military drill at the airport in defiance of a martial law edict, surrendered after National Guardsmen had drawn up in battle formation across the field, with rifles leveled, and ordered them to surrender.

ALL RELEASED

All were released after they had been relieved of their weapons, and their names and addresses taken.

Steel troops were rushed to the airport after Gen. Louis E. Guey, in command of National Guard unit, ordered out by Governor O. K. Allen, heard that the Square Dealers intended to defy the military edict.

FEAR BATTLE

For a time a pitched battle and bloodshed appeared imminent. The Square Dealers, who had come in buses, scattered into the woods and climbed trees or lay partially hidden on the ground as the soldiers moved slowly across the field.

Colonel E. P. Roy sent for an additional rifle company and a tank company. Upon their arrival, 25 of the Square Dealers apparently fearing violence, came out of the woods and dropped their guns. They were released immediately.

COVER HEDGINGS

The others remained in the woods at the north end of the airport. The soldiers, lying in prone position with rifles aimed at them, ready to fire, covered a line 400 yards long across the field.

After an hour of these maneuvers, the last of the recalcitrants struggled out of the woods and turned over their guns. All names and addresses and license numbers of their cars were taken. The guns were kept by the National Guardsmen and the Square Dealers went home.

DETAILS SCANT

Details of the affair at the airport were meager, since the first act of Senator Long's soldiers was to take over the communication system. Allen, meantime, proclaimed a press censorship.

Reports of the "bloodless revolt" against the declaration of martial law, hot on the heels of Long's exposure of a "plot" to assassinate him, had the whole state tingling with excitement.

What looked early today as if " Huey" has got his army out again—in the words of a pedestrian—turned out to be the most serious show the Kingfish has put on in months. Long, red-faced and excited, stormed around town revealing details of the "conspiracy" and threatening those who plotted against him.

The Square Dealers, grim and angry, remained at home, awaiting developments. Three of their number, including Powers Higginbotham, former park chief of East Baton Rouge, storm center of the anti-Long revolt, were under arrest.

Mass was celebrated by Father Tozzi and interment followed at St. Joseph's cemetery.

Pall bearers were M. Duane, Peter Dooling, James Dooling, Frank Aguilar, Joseph Machado and Joseph Alameda.

Crack-up of B. Hauptmann Is Predicted

timony Wilentz will draw from Hauptmann the State has a number of rebuttal witnesses it is holding in reserve, including the Fisch family, who have been brought from Leipzig to testify that their relative was a poverty-stricken young man who fell on evil days in New York, and who neither sent any money back to Germany, nor had any when he arrived home.

These witnesses are being kept under cover. They may not even be used, if the State deems it has won its battle.

BAGPIPES
"BAGPIPES" ARE NOT NATIVE TO SCOTLAND, BUT WERE SAID BY THE GREEKS TO HAVE BEEN INVENTED BY PAN. ROMANS LATER NAMED THEM "UTRICULARIS TIBIA" (LITTLE SKIN-BAG PIPE) WHICH GAVE US OUR PRESENT WORD "BAGPIPE" FOR THIS MUSICAL INSTRUMENT.
